Product marketing expertise and resources – on demand.

We believe that successful Go-to-Market is key to revenue growth, yet organizations are often short on resources and/or expertise. This notion is reaffirmed in the Gartner CMO Spend Survey 2017-2018, where CMOs clearly noted a need for optimizing the balance between internal and external resources.

This is why we founded Aventi Group.

Aventi Group is the first product marketing agency solely dedicated to world class Go-to-Market execution for high-tech clients.

We have an extensive team of marketing professionals - giving you fast access to an on-demand, scalable team with broad domain expertise. Our product marketing experts have run high performance teams at every level - from start-ups, to mid-sized firms, and large enterprises.

The Aventi Group's charter is to provide both strategic thinking and tactical execution with a broad range of product marketing services.

“ Aventi assisted in all aspects of improving our GTM marketing plan - from developing new messaging, to sales enablement, product launches, and asset development. Our sales team commended us on the significant improvement to our materials and we were perfectly positioned for our next major product launch. I would highly recommend Aventi Group for any marketing needs. ”
